Press Release

Abacus ALS acquires SES

Brisbane, March 25, 2014, Abacus ALS Pty Ltd (Abacus ALS) today announced that it had acquired Brisbane based company Scientific Educational Supplies (SES) Pty Ltd for SES to become part of the Abacus ALS group.

“SES has a long history and a solid reputation in sales and support of clinical educational and consumable products throughout Australia. We see immediate synergies by combining our operations and opportunities to grow the business throughout Australia and New Zealand. The addition of experienced SES staff into the Abacus ALS structure will allow us to build on solid foundations in the medical simulation and safety syringe markets” said Shayne Christensen, CEO of Abacus ALS.

Abacus ALS is a healthcare company with core business sectors of in vitro diagnostics and medical research markets. It is a provider of product to hospitals, universities and private pathology operators. Based in Brisbane, Abacus ALS has offices and staff in Brisbane, Sydney, Melbourne, Adelaide, Perth and Auckland.
